"PETE" WINS BEAUTY CONTEST

ORATORS BEGIN PREPARATIONS FOR CONTEST

Topics Of Current Interest Are Chosen For Speeches

Topics of current interest are to be the subjects of orations. To be entered in the annual oratorical contest. The contest is held each year among the junior colleges of the conference, the same as debates. It is to be held sometime during May but the elimination contest will take place the later part of April.

In the Southern California meet, a prize of $100 will be offered for the best oration. A silver loving cup is to be given to the college winning, with the name of the individual engraved on it.

Orations are to be judged on literary merit and delivery. Any student is eligible to enter if he is passing in twelve hours of work. Mr. Stewart is especially anxious that there be

ADVENTURERS ARE ON LAST LAP OF TOUR

Bob O'Brien And Don Hillman Are Expected Home In A Few Weeks

Romance and adventure are being pursued by two former Santa Ana college students on a trip around the world. Don Hillman and Robert O'Brien are the wanderers who are expected to return to Santa Ana soon. At present they are in Lakeland, Florida visiting relatives.

Sailing from San Pedro last June they went to San Francisco where they visited Chinatown, Golden Gate Park, and the campus of the University of California. From there they sailed to the Hawaiian Islands where they spent some time in Honolulu. On another island they visited a volcano.

Vancouver, B. C. was the scene of their next adventures and from there they went through Seattle, Portland, England, Spain, and Cuba were all visited for varying lengths of time. Enroute from Denmark they were given the added thrill of a shipreck which delayed the voyage considerably.

Denmark, France, Latvia, Germany, England, Spain, and Cuba were all visited for varying lengths of time. Enroute from Denmark they were given the added thrill of a shipreck which delayed the voyage considerably.

MEN PLAN STAG PARTY WITH SURPLUS

Heated discussion featured the Wednesday, Men's Org. meeting after Don Purvis, Men's Org. sec-treasurer, reported a surplus of $5.50 in the purse.

Many suggestions were made regarding its disposal but none met with the majority approval until it was suggested that a stag party be staged. This suggestion was adopted. Lawrence H. Minge, Org. president, appointed a committee, Will Burt, chairman, Arnulfo Ramirez and Allen Goddard, to arrange a date for the party.

PLANS FOR NEXT ASSEMBLY GIVEN

Elaine Smith, secretary of the student body, has made tentative plans for assembly, Wednesday March 16.

A one act play, "Red Carnations," to be presented by Mr. Phillips. Drama class, will feature Goldie Jacobson, Leslie Steffenson, and Will Homan. A violin trio, a dialogue and vocal solo will complete the program. The assembly will be held in the high school auditorium.

"STUFFED" BOX GIVES SHEIK PREFERENCE

Orest Cianfoni Represents the Type Preferred by Organized Voters

The sheik with his trusty "sax" and gallant ways is preferred, according to the returns of the alleged "stuffed" ballot box in the census taken by the Don last week to ascertain the type of man who is most popular among co-eds, (and eds).

The Romeo with the giant tie like grandad used to wear when he was doing "Turkey in the Straw" is at the top of the pile, so to speak.

The returns from the questionnaire show the sheik 56 votes in the lead of the scholar who is nine times as popular as the athlete. There was a total of 94 votes cast.

It is rumored, however, that the ballot box was stuffed to capacity by some advocates of the sheik.

One co-ed, undoubtedly a medieval student, said that she preferred a scholar with a "dose of the other two". Meaning she was greedy enough to want a three-in-one man.

One prominent woman athlete remarked that if there was anything she hated worse than a weakling who has a high scholarship standing it was a dumb athlete.

Another voter wrote that she preferred an "athlete that is a sheik with brains".

Both men and women answered the questions, but on account of the afore-mentioned "stuffing", it was impossible to estimate the number of each sex who voiced an opinion.

Long Beach May Start Junior College in the Fall

City Election April 1 Will Determine Whether Beach City Has College

Long Beach plans to start a junior college next fall, says the High Life. The Junior college will be similar to others in California, offering a Certificate and a Diploma course.

The State Board of Education has approved the plan and it only awaits ratification of the voters on April 1.

The college will be established in one of Long Beach's high schools for the present, and the teachers selected from those of the high school faculty who have had the necessary training.

Long Beach expects about two hundred to enroll next fall, if the plan is carried out.

Speakers From U. C. Los Angeles address Past Assembly

Dr. Maverick and Dr. Robison of the University of California at Los Angeles addressed the junior college students in assembly, Wednesday, giving the various qualifications and requirements for entrance to the University.

Freshmen and sophomore work is akin to the work in secondary schools and is gradually being relegated to the junior colleges leaving the universities for specialization and graduate work, according to Dr. Robison. It is the university's policy to accept junior college credits unit for unit at present. Sixteen units credit for one semester is the limit unless the student has received a B average, it was stated.

DONS TRIUMPH OVER U. S. C. IN 2-1 VICTORY

Debate Team Conquers Trojan Frosh In Clever Debate Tilt

Winning by a 2 to 1 victory, the Santa Ana junior college affirmative team completely overwhelmed the U. S. C. freshman, Wednesday night. Hendrik Van Rensselaer and James Walker upheld the question, "Is Mussolini a Benefactor to Italy?"

"Italy is in a better condition socially, economically, and politically than before Mussolini took over the dictatorship," was a point brought out by Santa Ana. The U. S. C. debaters, Mr. Stoner and Mr. Weimer, stated that the Mussolini government was one of force and imperialism, the result being the stifling of the people's initiative, and a detrimental sociological and psychological effect upon the people because of Mussolini's suppression of speech, press and assembly.

"Wit, interest, and a light strain of sarcasm were very noticeable in this debate," stated Mr. Stewart, the debating coach, "it was the most interesting I have heard at Santa Ana college."

An added bit of interest of the evening was the musical numbers from the college men's glee club, directed by Miss Martin. Solos were sung by Charles Haas and Leslie Steffenson, accompanied by Bob Thompson.

Edward Riniker and Dean Cowley, debating the negative side, won over the University of Southern California debaters in Los Angeles Friday night. The debate was judged by one judge who gave his vote to Santa Ana arguments. The win made it a clean sweep for the Santa Ana word warriors in the three practice clashes that have been held during the last week on the Mussolini question.

Extra Copies Of Year Book Will Sell For $3.50

Additional copies of the Algor will be sold for $3.50, according to Theodore Jesse, editor. The tickets may be obtained from Mr. Beeman or Judson Harmon, at any time between this date and Friday, March 11. That date will be the last chance for anyone not holding a student body ticket to obtain the year book.

Only sufficient books to supply the demand will be printed, say the business staff. At present 250 copies are being planned on, but that number will be raised according to the number of independent sales of the book which are made this week.

Wearin' O' The Green

Hurray for the Irish! March 17 is the great national holiday of Ireland. Even in the United States do we commemorate this day set aside in honor of St. Patrick, the patron saint of the home of the Blarney Stone.

"The Wearin' of the Green" is always furthered to a great degree within the states on this day. Shamrocks, wisps of green ribbon, voluptuous green neckties, and other more original ideas for wearing the brilliant color, are our way of showing Ireland that we do understand and that we do wish to celebrate with them this occasion. That we wish really to act as one great nation, a great brotherhood of men, sharing one another's holidays, one another's national celebrations. It fosters unity and peace among men the world over.

POPULAR ATHLETE OF GRIDIRON WINS BEAUTY CONTEST STAGED BY WOMEN

IS CARRIED ON SHOULDERS

Excited Crowd Throngs Hall and Stairs Watching Totals Leap as the Closing Hour Draws Steadily Nearer Staycomb, vasoline, and all other beauty aids for college sheiks were being relegated to the trash dump by the handsome men of the Santa Ana college. For Gerald "Pete" Twist, chosen the male Don beauty uses none such.

Thanks For The Ride

"Horses! Horses!" Crazy over horses, and lawn mowers, and buggy rides.

A number of co-eds had to thank the male members of the Press Club for their buggy ride on the lawn mower, Monday. That familiar one-horse power engine was standing idle when the Press Club went to have its picture taken.

Lyle Smith, John Winterbourne, Raymond Grisot, and Lyle Cook substituted for Dobin while Mary Georgiana took a ride.

Owens Tells Plans At J. C. Dances

Anyone taking any J. C. classes is entitled to attend the college dances provided one of the couple has a student body ticket. This was a statement made by Mary Jane Owens, social commissioner, concerning the attendance of high school students at college functions.

The problem of permitting high school students and specials to come to college functions has been under consideration for the past two weeks, and the recommendation of Miss Owens will be acted upon in board meeting this week.

The idea of a joint high school and college dance has practically been dropped as it is not greatly favored by Mr. Hammond and the other authorities.

W. H. H. Benton Will Speak at the Y. M. At Next Meeting

"Religion in Life" was the subject of a talk given by E. M. Neally before the members of the "Y" Monday night of last week at the regular dinner meeting. Neally's talk was the first of two month series of discussion group meetings which are being planned by Melvin Harter, program chairman.

For the next meeting, the Rev. W. L. H. Benton, of the Church of the Messiah, will open the subject to the discussion groups. Under the new plans, the students are divided into three groups after the open meeting to hold a discussion of questions that the speaker may have brought up. The groups are led by Walter Scott, McKee Fisk and Cecil Stewart, faculty teachers. The discussion groups are causing increased interest in the "Y" evening meetings.

When the contest conducted by the Associated Women students last week, closed Friday noon, Twist had the largest number of votes.

The race between him and Hendrik Van Rensselaer was close and when the final results were posted the difference was small. David Ross, of Golden Glist fame, was third in the battle of beauty.

Excitement was intense as the time for the contest to close drew near Friday noon. The co-eds who were championing their favorites were out soliciting all the siekels that they could pry from pickers. The hall about the "Shrine of Beauty" was crowded as the students anxiously awaited the final returns.

The funds derived from the contest are to be applied toward the expense of the St. Patrick's dance next Saturday night for which the college girls are securing the dates according to the annual custom. The contest raised about $30 it was disclosed today. That amount will meet most of the expenses of the dance.

Eleven candidates were entered in the "Men's Beauty Contest". They were backed by widely known beauty aids, in a mock imitation of the co-ed beauty contest which was held recently under the auspices of the Brotherhood of Bachelors to select the beauty queen of the college.

Now the royal line is complete. It is expected that some sort of demonstration will celebrate the recognition of the Beauty King at the A. W. S. Saturday. Some plans have been noised abroad, but the ceremony will be "sprung" as a surprise feature.

Shebas Must Date Men For Saint Patrick Dance

Orange Women's Club Will Be Scene Of A. W. S. Dance Saturday

Have you noticed the harried expressions on some of the girls faces and contented grins on the faces of others? All this has come about because the girls are making the dates for the A. W. S. dance.

The presence of the best looking man, Pete Twist promises to be one of the features of the evening. The dance is to be held March 19 in the Women's club house at Orange. From nine to twelve Cianfoni's orchestra will play for the dancers.

The "Saint of Ireland", Saint Patrick, will furnish the motif for the program. The hall will be appropriately decorated, and the favors are to further carry out the idea. Evelyn Metzgaris in charge of the program and Charlotte Harnois is in charge of the decorations.

Man's Value

The average one hundred fifty-pound man contains lime enough to white wash a fair size chicken coop, sugar enough to fill a small shaker, iron enough to make a ten penny nail, and water. The total value of these ingredients is ninety-eight cents at a drug store. That is the amount of the elements represented in comparison to their value in a free state. So far at the bulk weight of a man concerned, he is not likely to net very big sum. Another man has said that a man is worth three dollars a day from his ears down. This classifying him in regard to his ability as a producer. Why then do we value each other so highly? It is that small area which lies between the ears and behind the face that makes and breaks men. All of man's life is recorded there. Friends may forget and a kind heaven may forgive the wrong doings of a person but it can never be erased from that sensitized cortical area.

The Power of Money

This material age has succeeded in making most of us register value in dollars and cents. Fifty times a day we ask, "How much is it worth?" or "What do you ask for it?" Money was originally intended to be a commodity of exchange. It made trade easier and established standards of value. Now we have come to regard money-making as man's chief object. This is not because of the necessities which we purchase with money, but because of the prestige and the weight, and power which the possession of money gives to a person. We like to see ourselves reflected in the eyes of other people as having social weight. "All the world listens when a wealthy man speaks," says the Christian Century. This explains the mystery of all the effort to get money.

Proposed Reform

The present session of the State Legislature is about to consider a timely reform measure. The measure deals with the revision of the penal code of California. It cannot be denied that there is need for this change. This law will attempt to prevent unscrupulous lawyers from freeing a guilty man on a mere technicality. Crime and all its forces are against the bill. It lessens the chances of a crime going unpunished. More and more do we realize the fallacies of our court system. It is hard to get or give justice with our present legal methods. It will take time to break the bands of the past in dealing with our crime problems. "Something ought to be done about it."

Mussolini

Debates present the topic of Mussolini as Italy's benefactor. There is no doubt that Mussolini has brought about many beneficial changes which would have taken many years if left to the people. Yet the best working government is that which comes from the people, arising from a need which they appreciate. It may take longer but it will be worth more in the end if the people decide.

Seniors of La Verne College are leaving a useful gift to the school this year. In order to produce their annual play, it was necessary for the class to obtain scenery, and these scenes were purchased at a cost of $360, and will be donated to the institution.

"Faithful and unselfish co-operation made this paper"

Editorial Comment

The Don Enlarges

THE DON has outgrown itself. Whether that condition is a temporary one or whether it will remain permanent is still to be seen, but an effort will be made to hold the paper to its new dimensions.

The sudden growth from a five- to a six-column paper is due to the activities of the business staff. These men have been bringing in such a large amount of advertising that the news has at times been cramped for room.

This week there was such an increase in the space needed for ads, that it was found necessary to enlarge the paper.

If this condition continues the Don will retain its new dimensions.

A last word—since it is the advertisers who are making the addition possible, remember them when you are shopping.

Thomas Hall Glenn

A BIOGRAPHY

Thomas Hall Glenn, head of the English department of the Santa Ana high school and junior college is a true Southerner, for he was born in Chester, South Carolina. He spent practically all of his youth on a plantation on the edge of Chester.

His chief delight on the plantation was to go rabbit hunting with the negroes and to watch the various processes of cultivating and harvesting crops.

One interesting incident of Mr. Glenn's childhood happened when he was in third grade. The principal of the school had forbidden the use of fire crackers, but Tommy had forgotten. He came to school with his hip pocket loaded with sand crackers. He was called on to recite and when he had finished he sat down with an unexpected jolt. This pressure caused the firecrackers to set off, whereupon Mr. Glenn conceived the idea that he was shot.

After graduating from high school at the age of fifteen, Mr. Glenn attended Wafford College in Spartanburg, South Carolina where he received his B. A., and M. A. He majored in English and ancient languages.

There was a girls' college one mile from Wafford College. Mr. Glenn says that he boys used to flash messages to the girls—and even introductions were made by code.

Mr. Glenn was on the football team for three years and made his letter. When he was a junior he won second place in the South Carolina State inter-collegiate oratorical contest. During his senior year he won first place.

During the war Mr. Glenn served in the marine corps.

Mr. Glenn came to California in 1920 and attended summer school at U. S. C. The following year he became principal of a high school in Texas.

Later he came to Santa Ana where he is now head of the English department in both high school and junior college.

"I have a great deal of faith in the junior college," he said. "It will soon be one of the most important features of public educational institutions. The personnel and standards are improving every year."

It may also be mentioned that Mr. Glenn's name may be found in Who's Who. The reason, Mr. Glenn states, "is because he is the son of his father" who is president of the South Carolina Bar association and is a prominent lawyer and banker.

Saint Patrick

By M. E. RUTLEDGE

The name of St. Patrick is one around which many legends have been built. Today we are apt to have a vague conception of the patron saint of Ireland as being the man who "drove the snakes out of Ireland" and there our knowledge ends.

He was probably born about 389. His education was that of a Christian and he imbibed a considerable reverence for the Roman Empire. When he was about sixteen he was carried off by a band of Irish marauders and held in bondage for six years. During that time he was subject to religious emotion and beheld visions which encouraged him to attempt escape. Finally he did flee and probably took passage on a vessel which was engaged in exporting Irish wolf dogs. In two months Patrick went to the monastery at Terins where he spent a few years. After returning to Britain a vision appeared to him in the person of a man named Victorious with an epistle called, "The Voice of the Irish," which urged him on his mission.

Thereafter, Patrick battled against the Pagan beliefs of his people to convert them to Christianity. He established a number of churches and was finally acknowledged by Loigaire, the monarch.

The most famous legend about St. Patrick is, of course, the one in which tradition credits him with ridding Ireland of snakes. He drove them all out except one venerable old reptile, and it became necessary for good St. Pat to resort to cunning. He made a box and invited the serpent to enter it. But the serpent objected, saying that the box was too small while St. Patrick insisted that it was large enough. To prove his argument the serpent crawled into the box, whereupon St. Patrick slammed down the lid and threw the box into the sea. This wonderful tale ends by saying that the waves of the sea are made by the writhings of this serpent, and the noise of sea is the pleadings of the serpent for the Saint to release him.

SHEIK DATEST SHEBA

Every time Shiek dates Sheba he knocks three minutes off his life.

Such is the announcement of the Stanford Daily in a recent edition. Every time a kiss is passed the heart jumps from 70 to 90 beats, shortening the human life three minutes.

But what is three minutes?

LETTUCE ROW

How much do we owe the Irish? It is astounding when one stops to consider it. First there are the policemen.

And the Pat and Mike jokes. What would a humorist do without his Pat and Mike story? All he would have to fall back on would be the mother-in-law chestnut, and that kind of mother-in-law isn't safe to fall back on.

Then there is the potato. The Irish Potato. And Mulligan stew. And the pig in the parlor and nicknames and jigs.

At last, St. Patrick's day. The motif for parties, and nonsense.

Lettuce say: "Hurray for the Irish!"

Twins Toot Their Horn

Above are Naomi and Ruth Bulpitt blowing their horn for the Philharmonic orchestra which will make its appearance in the high school auditorium March 29.

If Naomi is the girl on the left, Ruth is the one on the right, and if that is wrong try it the other way.

We've heard that the only way to tell the two girls apart is to look for the mole on Ruth's or maybe Naomi's cheek. We couldn't discover the mole in the picture, or we would have been able to tell which one is Naomi—or Ruth.

We heard that once Naomi, (or Ruth) had a date. But the fellow didn't know whether it was Ruth or Naomi he had the date with. But Naomi (or Ruth) couldn't keep her date, so she sent her sister Ruth (or Naomi).

And the poor fellow didn't know he was with Ruth (or Naomi) instead of Naomi (or Ruth).

So don't tell him which one it was. At any rate the twins are tooting their own horn for the Philharmonic concert of March 29.

Donn Byrne — The Irishman

By THELMA PATTON

The phrase "prose poetry," has become trite because of the common usage to which it has been put, that of describing any work wherein the author has used pictorial and rhythmic language. But Donn Byrne deserves to have his work called true "prose poetry" because it has the essential value of poetry, an appeal to the noble and beautiful of human emotions as well as vividness of picture and beauty of line.

Donn Byrne is of great interest to his readers. He is a middle aged man and has been writing for many years but until very recently, in literary history, his work has not had the appreciation it deserved.

He is an Irishman by birth and habit and it is about Ireland and her fascinating folklore that most of his best beloved stories are woven. Imagination is allowed full sway in his stories with customary Celtic beauty. It is that imagination that one may find in the works of the other Irish authors, Lord Dunsany, Lady Gregory, Synge and the others.

The novel, is to me, the most beautiful of Byrne's modes of expression. Besides this realm he has entered that of the short story and has ventured slightly into poetry. But to his novels, I concede the greatest worth.

Blind Raftery is exotic to the Anglo him, if he has the slightest of imaginations. For sheer beauty of description there are few books in English that can surpass it. Ireland with all its lure, its beauty, its brooding atmosphere, its superstitions, and to him, then, who would read for above all, its people and their nature, is laid before us as though painted by one broad stroke of the artist's brush.

To him, then, who would read for beauty, and entertainment, and value, I unhesitatingly recommend Donn Byrne, an Irish author writing understandingly of a misunderstood people.

Meet Your Friends at Frank's

THE LOVE NEST

Love truly makes the world a merry-go-round. Too many get dizzy. Every minute of the day people come to this office seeking advice on some problem. One of the strange things of life is this love question. There is always that "Eternal Triangle". Love must always be a game only two can share to the best advantage. Three complicate the situation. This letter comes from a gentleman with as many troubles as the proverbial hairs on one's head.

Dear Uncle Goddard:

I am eighteen years old. I love a girl. She says she loves me. She also loves two others of my sex. I tell her that this cannot be done. She insists that she is perfectly capable of handling six of us in a truly impartial way. I am always afraid of running into two or three if I go to her house alone. I cannot seem to convince her that I am serious in this affair. Could you give me any help in my trouble?

The triangle is enlarged with this gentleman into a quadrilateral. More confusion. Here is a wonderful opportunity for those other two fellows to follow the Golden Rule. Draw up a circular letter and mail one to each of the prospectives. Be sure to preside over the meeting. Then bring the proposition for vote. Each fellow will vote for himself. Then it will be left to the chair to decide. Do you get the "Idea"?

Chaffey J. C. enjoyed an enforced vacation during the storms in the latter part of February. The heavy rains made transportation to school impossible for a day or two.

Annual Student Conference Looms This Week End

Dr. Curry, of Princeton and Columbia Universities, will be the leader of the discussions to be held at the Y. M. -Y. W. student conference at Whittier, March 19 and 20. Dr. Curry is ably suited and should give a wonderful inspiration for students. The degree of Doctor of Philosophy was bestowed upon him, for a number of years he taught New York City, at a Biblical Seminary. While Dr. Fosdick was in Europe last year, Mr. Curry occupied position as teacher at Union Theological Seminary. The conference will be composed of representatives from almost all of the junior colleges in Southern California. Whittier college, La Verne, and the University of Redlands will send delegates.

Colleges Report On Success Of Honor System

Santa Ana college is not the only place where the honor system is a much mooted question. In many colleges on the Pacific coast it is established while others are considering the feasibility of adopting it. Neal Archer, president of the student body at Occidental college, is very much in favor of it and feels that it is very successful. At Cal Tech the honor spirit prevails in the attitude which the student body takes towards violators of the system. If a student sees what he believes to be a violation, he makes public declaration of it in the class and if it stops, nothing more is said. If the suspect continues to violate the system, the first student reports him to the board of control, the body to which is entrusted the enforcement of Tech traditions and the honor system. The success of the plan has been very great in the past.

R. Bert Fehren, president of the Associated Students at O. A. C. wrote "Frankly, I believe the system has succeeded at Oregon State. I do not intend to heap bouquets upon a perfect system of honor, for it is not. It has succeeded in cutting down the percentage to a much lower figure." San Jose State is in the same predicament that Santa Ana is in. Authorities believe that it will be difficult to introduce the system because there is a lack at present of any long established student tradition of honesty and partly because of such things present as the inadequate library for which no one in particular is to be blamed.

Andrews Tells of Discoveries in Man's History

Roy Chapman Andrews noted explorer in Monzolia, spoke to an interested audience when he gave his lecture last week. "Hunting the bones of Adam" was the subject of his lecture. Experiences in obtaining fossils were related in the talk. Illustrating the talk by slides and motion pictures, Dr. Andrews made the scenes more vivid to his listeners. Dr. Andrews has made several trips to the Gobi desert within the past few years in searching for fossil remains of ancient man. He is famous for his discovery of the dinosaur eggs. He expects to return to the desert next summer and continue his revelation of man's evolution.

ACTIVITIES

Helen Price Is Honored Guest

Honoring Miss Helen Price, the field secretary of the Asilomar division, the Y. W. cabinet met at the home of Evelyn Metzgar, Monday evening.

The evening was spent in pleasant conversation with Miss Price who told about the coming conference at Whittier and discussed other matters of interest to the girls.

Refreshments were served to the group which consisted of Enid Twist, Julia Barker, Francis Forcey, Muriel Smith, Kate Benton, Thelma Patton, Miss Lasby, the hostess, Evelyn Metzgar, and the honored, Miss Price.

Register Editor Speaks to Class

"The most important natural or personal qualification for a good reporter is the power of close and accurate observation." Thus was the journalism class told by J. P. Baumgartner, editor of the Register, when he spoke to the members Monday.

Mr. Baumgartner was invited to speak before the class on "The Qualifications for a Reporter." He advocated first a good general education particularly in the social sciences and English. Ignorance of reporters causes many important features of a story to be overlooked.

One is prone to blame the paper for mistakes but when he considers the many chances for inaccuracy he admits that there are surprisingly great. In the first place, no two people see or hear a thing exactly alike, therefore, the reporter and the bystander may view the same occurrence differently. Besides this, there is a chance of incorrect editing or a mistake by the linotype operator. One can see now how mistakes have been made.

In closing his short talk, Mr. Baumgartner said, "A lazy man can never be a good reporter. He must be everlastingly on the job, searching everything he sees, or reads, for possible news value."

Exams Again

Prepare! Beware!

The quarterly exams are only nine days off. Of course, if one has studied his lessons and reviewed his past ones every day he has no reason to worry. In fact, it is said that one will not have to study for the tests at all.

If one has not done that the profs say that it would be wise to study. The quarterly marks effect the final grades.

Graduating sophomores and other eligible persons are requested to have their Algot photos taken this week.

Vocations Class Hear Professors From U. C. L. A.

The vocational class received a treat today when they were addressed by Dr. Maverick and Dr. Robison of the University of California, at Los Angeles.

The former holds a very important position in the college for he decides the fate of the students who are to be dismissed or retained.

Teaching as a profession, was the subject of Dr. Robison's talk. He dwelt on the numerous advantages of teaching, among which were social position, long period of vacation in which the teacher may spend his or her time to advantage. Dr. Robison brought out other facts in connection with the profession which tended to make the calling more attractive.

The last few minutes before dismissal Dr. Maverick supplemented Dr. Robison with a short comment on the necessity of a teacher possessing the ability to use good English.

Riverside Saturday

DON SPORTING SECTION

Baseball Season
Opens Friday

SHORT SPORTS

BY A. W. G.

Has Santa Ana a stronger or weaker track team this year than occurred to the writer after watching Pasadena severely trounce the present squad in Saturday's meet. Taking out pencil and pad and reviewing some past records the following conclusion was arrived at: The '27 team is (as near as can be ascertained) 15 points stronger in its present condition than the '26 squad was at the conference meet last year.

Seven first places were accorded to each squad, but the relay was given to the '26 team with Lewis, Vawter, Strochiem, and Lancaster competing against the present baton-passers. All these runners were good for under 54 seconds while McIntire seems to be the only one at present capable of making that time.

The larger share of the points would have come to the '27 squad through the field events with Reinhardt winning the shot and discus, Morris, second in the shot and winning the high jump, broad jump, and javelin, and Stewart second in the last event.

The final conclusion to draw from the aforesaid dope of course is that that Dons are growing stronger in track events they have not increased so rapidly as the Pirates did in the past year. The difference in the size of the two collages undoubtedly has been a determining factor in the contests. Pasadena has an enrollment of well over six hundred according to reports while the latest figures available from Educational Councilor Fisk set the present Santa Ana enrollment at 260.

Strochiem was accorded first place in the hundred and two-hundred in the mythical meet, Vawter, the 880 and mile, Webber the hurdle races, and Lutz the pole vault. These members were all consistent point winners last year.

Seconds and thirds were given to the present team in the sprints, hurdles, pole vault, and middle distances while the old timers took second and thirds in the 440, 2 mile, and high jump.

PIRATES WIN FROM SANTA ANA SPIKESTERS BY 95-36 SCORE

Relay Goes To Locals After Fast Lap By McIntire Stocks, High Point Man With 18 1-3 Markers

Santa Ana proved no match for the all-round strength of the Pasadena cinderpath aggregation and dropped the first conference meet 95 to 36. Only three first places and the relay went to the Dons while the Pirates garnered eleven firsts and all three places in five events.

Caines, the blond Pasadena flyer, raced to the tape to win the century in 10.2 after being set back two yards for jumping twice. He loafed through a 23.1 two-twenty and called it a day after making ten points to place second to Stocks for high point man. Stocks had a great day winning the shot, javelin, almost equalling conference marks in each, taking second in the discus, and tying for third in the high jump.

Santa Ana's showing came in the 440 and 880 when McIntire broke the tape a scant foot ahead of D'Oust in the former and Edgar won the latter without exerting himself. Squires and Settle placed third respectively in the events.

The mile was a blanket finish with Jessop and McGinnis forming a cinder box in the last fifty yards to prevent Field from getting better than a third although less than a yard behind. The latter ran ten seconds better than he has ever run before this season and should get well under five minutes in conference meet.

"Greasy" Griset dogged McGinnis' heel for most of the length of the two mile, but could not pass him in the sprint for the tape. He finished less than two yards in the rear.

The relay was enough to cause the weaker spectators to experience a heart attack. Squires led off on the first round taking the pole from Ramsay on the first curve and finished with a two-yard lead. Martin then took the baton and ran a fast race to maintain the lead and passed to Twist. Pete ran a good race but tiring near the finish, lost his lead and passed to McIntire with a yard handicap. Mac was close on the heels of D'Oust, anchor man for the Pirates, but could not gain the lead on the straightaway. Coming around the last curve with a tremendous burst of speed, Mac passed the faltering Pasadena man and won by a three yard margin. His time was 52.9 seconds. McMillan won the high hurdles over his team mate Wardwell after Collins of the Pirates was disqualified for knocking down three barriers.

Stewart, Pasadena weight man, broke a conference mark in the discus by two feet with a toss of 122 feet 3 1/2 inches. The mark will not count as a new record, however, since records made in the conference meet only count. Reinhardt did not succeed in approaching his mark of 123 feet 3 1/2 inches made in the Pomona meet.

The results:
Mile: Jessop (P), McGinnis (P), Field. Time 5 min. 3.2 sec.
100 yard dash: Caines (P), Talbott (P), Paine (P). Time 10.2 sec.
120 high hurdles: Mcmillan (S.A.), Wardwell (S.A.), Simpson (P). Time 18.5 sec.
2 mile: McGinnis (P), Griset (S.A.), Jessop (P). Time 11 min.

Last Tuesday afternoon the Don's track squad journeyed to Huntington Beach for the second track meet of the season—a triangular affair with California Christian College included. A close met resulted with the score reading Christian College 56, Santa Ana 53, and Huntington Beach 45. First places went to Edgar in the 880, McIntire in the 440, and Reinhardt in the shot, and to the four-880 yard run: Edgar (S.A.), Ramsay (P), Settle (S.A.). Time 2 min. 9.2. sec.

High jump: A. Larsen (P), J. Larsen (P), Addis (P), Simpson tied for third with 5 feet 10 inches.

220 yard low hurdles: Collins (P), Daws (P), Lawry (P). Time 28.3 sec.

220 yard dash: Caines (P), Scovel (P), Talbott (P). Time 23.1 sec.

440 yard dash: McIntire (S. A.), D'Oust (P), Squires (S.A.). Time 54.9 sec.

Shot put: Stocks (P), Stewart (P), Reinhardt (S.A.). 38 feet 7 1/2 inches.

Pole vault: Addis (P) and Johnson (P) tied for first, Rozelle (S.A.) 10 feet 6 inches.

Discus: Stewart (P), Stocks, Reinhardt (S.A.). 122 feet 3 1/2 inches.

Broad jump: Stocks (P), Scovel (P), Collins (P). 21 feet 3 inches.

Javelin: Stocks (P), Morris (S.A.), Stewart (S.A.). 155 feet 2 inches.

Relay: on by Santa Ana (Squires, Martin, Twist, McIntire). Time 3 min. 41.6 sec.

Total score: Pasadena 95, Santa Ana 36.

DONS vs. Tigers Sat.

The Riverside Tigers will furnish the opposition for the Dons this week in a dual track meet Saturday, March 19. Dope on the tigers is unavailable since they have meet none of the teams which Santa Ana has encountered.

Patton, Southern California prep weight champion, is reported to be attending Riverside J. C. and should be the class of the conference in the shot and discus. "Tiny" Reinhardt will be the Dons best bet to supply competition for Patton and may win over him if the Tiger star is off form.

While little is known of the Riverside track team it is expected that and Griset rapidly rounding in to events with McIntire, Edgar, Field, the Dons will score heavily in these shape. Don Minor, although failing to place against Pasadena sprinters should meet less competition from the Tigers and should collect points in the dashes.

The meet will be held at Riverside and is to be the last meet with a conference opponent before the annual junior college conference meet.

DONS SECOND IN CLOSE MEET

Last Tuesday afternoon the Don's track squad journeyed to Huntington Beach for the second track meet of the season—a triangular affair with California Christian College included. A close met resulted with the score reading Christian College 56, Santa Ana 53, and Huntington Beach 45. First places went to Edgar in the 880, McIntire in the 440, and Reinhardt in the shot, and to the four-

Baseball Squad To Play Oilers

Twelve candidates have answered the call for baseball men made by Coach Harris. Four lettermen are back, and a good supply of material from freshman class is in evidence.

Judson Harmen, is managing the sport and announces a game with Huntington Beach high school Friday. The field has not as yet been decided upon.

Several candidates are competing on the track squad at the present time but will report when the cinder-path season closes.

Following is a list of the candidates signed up:

Milton Chaffee
Wallace Geren
Lawrence Minge
Melvin Harter
Thomas Keithley
Floyd Morton
John Fitz

"NINE" TO PLAY IS DECISION

Baseball will be continued in junior college this year, it was definitely decided at the Board of Education meeting held last Wednesday afternoon.

Some questions over the problem had risen to confront the Board owing to the fact that more money had been spent in college athletics this year than had been provided for in the budget. It had been assemed that but seven basketball games would be played. However, a later change resulted in 14 games being played, as the League voted to double the program. This expenditure was involved. When this was finally computed it was found that men's athletics had a total deficit of $185.18.

The problem was placed before the Board of Education by Mr. Hammond. They willingly agreed to cooperate with the college and make up the amount. In placing the matter before the body Mr. Hammond dwelt upon the fact that the baseball men had worked hard, had organized a team of excellent quality, and should, in all fairness, be allowed to continue their schedule.

Fear had been expressed that baseball would have to be dropped. There was great concern over it for some time, until the tidings from the Board were made public.

man 880 relay team composed of Miner, Twist, Ewert, and McIntire.

Twist placed second in the 220, and Stewart second in the javelin with a heave of 152 feet. Wardwell, Morris, Allee, McKean, Squires, McMillan, Griset, and Field also took points in their events.
